

About Really Global

What is Really Global?

Really Global is a global telehealth technology platform and mental health marketplace. Our platform provides tools that enable clients in more than 200 countries and regions to find and engage with licensed and non-licensed therapists, psychologists, nurse practitioners, social workers, certified coaches and mentors, and other mental health and wellness practitioners through transparent search, instant booking, and Talk Now on-demand support. Our platform reduces traditional barriers by facilitating direct-pay services without insurance requirements, empowering both providers and clients with complete autonomy over their mental health journey.

Who Does Really Global Serve?

Really Global serves three distinct communities within the global mental health ecosystem:

Clients seeking accessible mental health care:

People worldwide who struggle to find the right therapist, coach, or mental health professional due to high costs, insurance barriers, geographic limitations, or long wait times. Whether you're looking for specialized trauma therapy that fits your budget, need a career coach available on-demand when work crises hit, or want a mentor who's actually walked your path as a first-generation entrepreneur, you deserve care that fits your life, schedule, and budget.

Mental health professionals seeking practice freedom:

Providers who are tired of insurance hassles, exhausted from constant self-marketing, and frustrated with platforms that control their rates and assign their clients. Some are ready to escape the grind entirely and build truly global practices unlimited by geographic borders. Others want to supplement their current full-time work with flexible side income during evenings, weekends, or free hours.

Organizations investing in employee wellness (launching 2026):

Companies, schools, and nonprofits that want to provide meaningful mental health support but struggle with limited local providers, complex insurance administration, and difficulty measuring outcomes across diverse populations and locations.

What Does Really Global Make Possible?

For Clients:

The tools to search for and engage with a mental health provider who fits your needs in minutes, not months. Imagine browsing for a therapist who specializes in your exact needs, speaks your language, and meets when you're actually available—whether that's midnight in Tokyo or Sunday morning in São Paulo. Picture accessing immediate support through Talk Now when anxiety strikes, needing to process a work crisis, or simply wanting someone to listen—all without the wait times of traditional booking. Really Global's technology makes finding mental health care as accessible as ordering food delivery, but for your mind and soul.

For Providers:

The professional life you entered this field to live—one where you spend your time transforming lives, not fighting insurance companies or chasing unpaid invoices. Picture waking up to a calendar filled with committed clients who found you through our search tools, value your expertise, and have already paid for their sessions. Imagine building a practice that travels with you, serves clients across time zones, and grows through word-of-mouth rather than expensive marketing campaigns. Whether you're supplementing your agency income or building a global practice, Really Global's platform tools make it possible to focus on what matters: your clients' wellbeing and your own.

For Organizations:

The power to offer meaningful mental health support that your people will actually use. Envision employees accessing care in their native language, at times that work across global offices, without HR navigating insurance nightmares or managing provider networks. Picture clear utilization data, predictable costs, and employees who feel genuinely supported—not just covered on paper. Really Global's technology platform makes comprehensive mental health benefits administration possible without the traditional complexity.

How Does Really Global Work?

For Mental Health and Wellness Providers:

Really Global provides a complete suite of practice-building tools designed to reduce barriers between you and your ideal clients. Create an SEO-optimized profile with unlimited media that showcases your unique expertise and personality. Sync your calendar across Google, Apple, and Microsoft platforms—your availability updates everywhere instantly. Set your own rates and receive instant PayPal or Stripe payouts in your local currency, keeping up to 95% of session revenue with our transparent 5% in-person / 15% telehealth fee structure.

Our AI-powered search and filtering tools help surface your profile to clients who have already filtered by your exact specialties, rates, and availability. No more discovery calls wondering if they can afford you—clients book and pay in advance, and you receive full compensation even for late cancellations and no-shows. Additional tools include “Talk Now” instant availability when you want quick sessions, Certn.co background verification for credibility, specialty pages for niche expertise, and direct booking links to share anywhere online. It's free to join, with no subscriptions or hidden fees—just start earning from your first client.

For Clients:

Really Global puts a global network of mental health providers at your fingertips through powerful search technology and radical transparency. Our "Find Matches" assessment tool helps you identify your preferences and surfaces providers whose self-reported profiles align with your criteria, while our navigation system offers 700+ filtering options to browse providers by every attribute imaginable, and our AI-powered search understands natural language queries—from "ADHD coach who's also a parent" to "trauma therapist who speaks Mandarin and takes evening appointments."

Every provider profile displays complete transparency—real availability, exact session prices, and credentials, with verified providers clearly marked and prioritized in search results for added confidence. Book instantly with real-time calendar integration, knowing your payment is secure and your appointment is confirmed. Need support right now? Tap "Talk Now" to connect with available providers in seconds—perfect for anxiety attacks, work crises, or when you simply can't wait. Your secure account stores preferences and session history for easy rebooking, while our global provider network gives you the flexibility to seek care whether you're home, traveling, or relocating. No subscriptions, no insurance hassles, no minimums—just pay per session when you need care, anywhere in the world, anytime.

For Organizations:

Really Global's enterprise platform transforms employee mental health benefits administration from an HR headache into a competitive advantage. Our enterprise platform launches in 2026 with centralized administration, budget controls, and utilization analytics that provide clear ROI on wellness investments. Offer your global workforce access to mental health support in their language, time zone, and cultural context without managing provider networks or insurance complexities. Whether supporting remote teams, international offices, or diverse local populations, Really Global's platform makes mental health benefits administration simple, measurable, and genuinely accessible.
